

About Educational Consulting

“It’s the absolute best investment we ever could have made. It is absolutely worth it—and the reason it’s worth it: I don’t have to ruin my relationship with my child.”

Leading & Learning Educational Consulting provides a supportive process that helps students identify and gain admission into schools that fit them best. Navigating the college selection and application process is time-intensive and stressful, not just for students, but also for parents. So we provide students with a team of highly attentive, experienced, and unbiased professionals who work one-on-one to help each family and student navigate the complexities of this journey together, in healthy, balanced ways.

We offer Educational Consulting for middle school, high school, undergraduate, and graduate students, and their parents, who are looking for an honest, supportive team to aid them through this complex process.

Why Leading & Learning’s Educational Consulting?

Our Founder, Dr. Erik Shane, and his team navigate the educational consulting process with the support of a team fully dedicated to students. Parents and students will always feel heard and supported throughout the journey, freeing each family member from the stress while empowering them and providing them with a sense of calm and control. This coherent approach invites parents and students, as a team and individually, to make balanced decisions.

We identify the best fit schools for students—and we’re honest about identifying schools that fit our clients’ personalities, abilities, what they want to study and explore, financial circumstances, and long-term goals. We take the long view on education, helping students see the bigger picture, because that is the best way to ensure long-term success and stability.
